To create a sustainable future for us and our planet, there needs to be a switch to 100 percent renewable energy and completely stop the usage of fossil fuels. There is a need for this important change on a global level, within all sectors, where everyone takes its share of responsibility.

As part of our sustainability work, we have for the past 2 years completely switched to renewable energy in all our Swedish operations. And we can proudly announce that we have ensured renewable electricity for our Danish operations as well. This means that ALL our energy consumption to all factories now comes from renewable sources and our CO2 emissions will be reduced by another 500 tons per year.
